HIGH POINT LOST 'BOUT $30,000

THE TOWN IS MINUS A BARBER SHOP AND OTHER NECESSITIES.

The Fire Was Large in Extent and Left a Big Gap, Which Will be Replaced by Brick Structures. Correspondence of The Telegram.

High Point, March 7.—The fire of yesterday afternoon, an account of which appeared in The Telegram, proved to be quite a large one in area especially.

The fire left High Point without a barber shop and as far as we know no place to start business in again. What will we do for a shave?

The liverymen, meat men, and fruit men who were burned out will have to wait until some buildings are erected before they can engage in business, so scarce is store room in this place.

A rough estimate would place the loss at $30,000. No doubt the burnt district will be replaced at an early date by brick structures.

Most of the buildings burned were frame structures and fanned by the March winds, the fire was intensely hot and made rapid progress. It originated from a gas tank on a peanut parcher in the store of Alf Fraley, under the Edwards House, a large frame building on South Main and Hamilton streets, which was owned by Mr. Dougan Davis, of this place.

The fire then spread out down Main street among a lot of wooden buildings carrying before it the John Suits building, Jesse Edmondson's barber shop, Thos. Best's restaurant, J. Elwood Cox's store building, occupied by R. T. Chappell as a grocery store, J. C. Welch's large livery and sale stables, including buggy houses and sheds, Mrs. P. E. Jarrell's three wooden buildings, occupied by Campbell & Younts a barber shop, and Kennedy Bros. grocers. The brick block of Ragan & Millis was saved by hard work, but the warehouses of W. T. Kirkman & Co. and the High Point Hardware Co. doing business in this block, were destroyed.

The fire made a clean sweep from the railroad to the brick block named above, including all wooden buildings immediately in the rear.

The fire seemed uncontrollable and many people a good distance down Main street removed their effects from the stores and residences.

From Jarrell Hotel corner down to the residence of Dr. J. J. Cox's, a distance of one-eighth of a mile, goods from the stores and houses were piled upon the streets and scattered along the sidewalks.

It is impossible at this time to estimate the losses. Most of those suffering losses had some insurance. The following is a list of those who lost and amount of insurance compiled as definitely as possible at this writing:

Dougan Davis (Edwards House) insurance $1,500; total loss.

John Suits, store house, insurance $300; total loss.

Mrs. Edwards, household goods, insurance $250; total loss.

Steed & York, groceries, insurance $300; almost total loss.

Thos. Best, restaurant, no insurance.

Alf Fraley, fruit stand, partly insured; contents total loss.

Albertson, shoe shop; total loss.

Morris & Co., fruit store; total loss.

Jesse Edmondson, barber shop, insurance $200; effects saved.

R. T. Campbell, groceries, insurance $300.

J. Elwood Cox, store house, insurance $400.

J. C. Welch's livery and sale stables, no insurance; stock saved.

Campbell & Younts, market, insurance $250.

Barber shop No. 3, no insurance, effects saved.

Kennedy Bros., grocers, insurance $100.

W. T. Kirkman & Co., furniture department, loss about $500.

J. W. Harris & Co., grocers, insurance $2,000; goods damaged in removing.

High Point Hardware Company, insurance $5,000; goods damaged in removing.

W. H. Ragan, office furniture.

Mrs. Frazier, no insurance.

Hammer's grocery store, goods removed.

Tomlinson & Co., goods removed.

Davis & Burns, goods removed.

W. G. Bradshaw, furniture removed from residence.

The residence of Mr. Bert Field suffered serious damage by the fire, as did the contents of his residence.

For a time it appeared as if the Jarrell Hotel would go. This is a large frame structure, built before the war, and if it had caught the results would have been very disastrous.

The wind was strong and blowing towards the factories and there was considerable work done in that part of the town.

A dog that had been tied in one of the stores that was burned made very pitiful appeals for his life, but the poor creature was "cremated" before assistance could be given.

During the fire several residences a good distance away caught fire from the sparks but by timely aid were put out.

Crazy Soldiers.

Last year about this time a car load of demented soldiers from the Philippine Islands was carried by Greensboro and caused a great deal of comment. The uniformity of the hot weather, together with the hardships of campaigning is said to cause many of the soldiers to lose their minds. Many of them recover on reaching home, but some do not.

The midnight train over the Southern from Atlanta carried an extra coach last night with a load of demented soldiers, who had been landed a few days ago at San Francisco. There were sixteen privates and a sergeant. Of the load the Charlotte Observer says:

"The conductor of the train said that it was one of the saddest sights he ever saw, a whole car of people and every one crazy except the guards. Not a single one of the men realized that he had been fighting in a foreign country nor was there one in the crowd that knew he had got back again to his own country. 'The quiet fellows among the crowd,' said the Observer's informant, 'talked about bananas, hemp, rice and bolos. One of them would repeat again and again, 'the niggers, the niggers.' The handcuffed men were heard occasionally to talk about dodging arrows."

"The car containing the insane soldiers was closely guarded and no one was allowed to mount the platform."

A Skillful Blind Man.

Without sight most people would be comparatively helpless, but this was not the case with a blind man at the depot today. He walked into the reception room unaided and depositing his baggage in the middle of the floor, enquired the way to the ticket office. Not receiving an answer he felt his way to the railing around the window and when he found it he went around it in the proper way, and as Mr. Tyre Glenn, who was standing near, expressed it, "did a great deal better than a great many people with eyesight." When he got his ticket he counted out the correct amount of money without hesitating by simply feeling it, and experienced no difficulty in returning to the place where he had left his baggage.

Mr. Sherrill Here.

Mr. Clarence O. Sherrill, who has just graduated at West Point, arrived last night to spend a few days with his sister, Mrs. S. L. Alderman, with whom he made his home for eleven years previous to entrance to West Point.

He stood second in his class, which grade gives him a position in the engineer corps, with rank of second lieutenant. He has not been assigned to duty yet.

Lost His Greyhound.

Mr. Clark Porter's fine greyhound, which won the first prize the Carolina Central Fair last summer, died last night with what is supposed to have been the grip. The animal was a fine one and has been much admired.

Thank You.

SWAPPING GUNS FOR PRISONERS

AMERICAN PLAN TO INDUCE FILIPINOS TO GIVE UP ARMS.

General MacArthur Orders that Every Man Who Brings in a Gun May Select a Prisoner for Release.

By Wire to The Telegram:

Manila, March 7.—Additional inducements have been made by the Americans for the purpose of securing the surrender of guns by the insurgents. General MacArthur has directed all commanders to release one prisoner for every rifle surrendered. The insurgent who surrenders a gun is to be permitted to name the prisoner to be released, provided no exceptional circumstances require that man's detention, in which case another selection will be allowed. It is rumored by the local press that the Carman case is to be referred to Washington and that a statement on certain matters concerning the case will be obtained from Gen. Otis.

Federalist report that as a result of negotiations with the insurgents Gen. Trias who is in Southern Luzon will probably soon surrender.

Mr. R. B. Hines, State Organizer of the Knights of Kadosh, came from Mt. Airy this morning and will be in the city for several days.

CAUGHT ONE.

Was He a Part of the Summit Avenue Gang?

Last night about ten o'clock Ed. Duffie, who gardens for Mr. Caesar Cone, and who was held up on Summit avenue one night recently called up Chief Scott and said that he had again been waylaid. He and a negro who fires at Proximity, he said, were halted on the avenue by two white men and a negro. But they made their escape without injury and came up town. Mr. Scott sent him to Policemen Pearce and Whittington, who procured a shot gun, besides their usual "weepers" and marched out to the scene. Near the place they found a man hiding behind a tree and arrested him. He is now in jail. His name is Hugh Bowie and he lives at Proximity. He said he was waiting to escort a cook home, as that individual was very timid and was afraid to go home alone. This is all the explanation which the accommodating citizen could give and so the officers gave him "hay-foot, straw-foot," back to town.

Bowie was held principally because a pair of knucks was found on his person.

This afternoon Duffy swore out a warrant against one F. E. Linden, who was arrested, and as The Telegram goes to press, he is having a hearing before Esq. Wolfe.

May 6, one week, criminal.
September 16, two weeks, civil.
October 28, one week, criminal.
October 21, one week, civil.
December 9, two weeks, civil.

Railroad Suits.

Two suits against the Southern have just been instituted here by Col. J. A. Barringer for parties residing here. One of them is for $6,000, brought by Mr. John F. May, injured while working on a railroad bridge at Hillsboro some time ago. His leg and foot were mashed. The other is for injuries received by Oscar Scales, colored, who had three fingers mashed off while operating an old time car coupler. He sued for $3,000.

Knights of Kadosh Meeting.

The Knights of Kadosh will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 in the new hall over Grissom & Fordham's drug store. State Organizer R. B. Hines will be present. This will be an important meeting and all members are urged to be present. Establishment of by-laws and the election of officers.

Telegraphic Briefs Today.

Astoria Institute in New York for inebriates was burned to the ground this morning, but all the inmates escaped after a panic.

Trinity Hall, the fine old Harvard dormitory, was burned almost to the ground last night. In their excitement the students hurled everything to the ground, heaping up a big pile of wreckage.

A bill was this morning introduced in the New York legislature prohibiting bicycles and motor carriages from running faster than six miles an hour in municipal corporations, not more than ten hours outside.

Last night in the Lancaster, Pa., jail, William J. Mott, awaiting trial for the murder of two women, hanged himself. He was 29-years-old and from Norfolk, Va.

It is said in Boer circles at Pretoria that the Boer leaders will surrender with a majority of their followers, if they are assured of amnesty and assistance in starting in life afresh, and free pardon is granted rebels.

At the opening of the Bundesrath in Berlin today, the president announced that the Emperor had been wounded by a lad, and, though the wound was inconsiderable, he would have to keep his bed for several days. The wound was inflicted by a piece of iron which the boy threw. It struck the Emperor in the face as his carriage was passing.

SPAT IN THE SENATE.

Senators Glenn and Gudger Have a Warm Time.

Raleigh Cor Charlotte Observer.

Senator Henderson said that a bill from the House had passed the Senate yesterday to prevent shipping liquor in Buncombe and Madison counties except to druggists and liquor dealers. He hoped the bill would be recalled and considered on its merits.

Gudger explained that Haywood, Buncombe and Madison are prohibition counties, except in the towns of Wanesville, Asheville and Marshall. However, these counties are flooded with blockade liquor from other counties and every train carries the stuff into this prohibition territory. The bill simply prevents the importation of liquor into any of these counties except to dealers and druggists.

Senator Candler, Republican, of Jackson, said he hoped that the bill would not be reconsidered. Such a law prevailed for Jackson and worked well. "There was a time," said Candler, "when liquor was just poured into Jackson, a prohibition county, from illicit stills. As many as 50 jugs came in on every train to the young men and that liquor was so mean and strong that it would make a bull shake his horns. I hope the bill will not be disturbed."

A discussion followed between Webb and Gudger. When Glenn made a suggestion that this placed a serious burden on the railroads, Gudger said this bill had been lobbied against, by the railroads and that Mr. Miller had spoken to several about the bill.

Glenn retorted that H. W. Miller did not lobby, but he did watch legislation and when anything detrimental to railroads he went squarely before a committee and openly explained the effect that such legislation would have.

Gudger said he did not intend to reflect on Mr. Miller.

Glenn: "If you desire the bill considered fairly and justly you will allow its reconsideration and debate by the Senate."

Gudger: "Do you mean to say that I am not fair and just?"

Glenn: "I said that it would be fair and just to allow reconsideration."

Gudger: "If you mean to intimate that I am not desirous of being fair and just, then you are making such an insinuation as ought not to come from any man who holds a seat on this floor."

Both Senators were flushed and seemed to be rather excited.

Lieutenant Governor Turner rapped loudly and called on the Sergeant-at-Arms for order.

The bill was recalled by a vote of 21 to 10.

SOME OF THE DOGS GET TAXED.

A BILL OF TWENTY CENTS PER HEAD IN SOME COUNTIES.

The A. and M. College May be Placed in the Hands of the Board of Agriculture. School Bill Passes Senate.

Special Dispatch to The Telegram.
Raleigh, March 7.—The Senate concurred in the house amendments to the public school bill and passed the Charlotte charter and primary bill.

It also passed the bill allowing county officials bonded by guarantee companies to deposit funds in either State or National banks.

It also passed a bill taxing dogs 25 cents, applying to about twenty counties, Wake, Mecklenburg, and New Hanover among them.

It also passed a bill placing the Agricultural and Mechanical College under the control of the board of agriculture.

The bill for sixteen judicial districts was made the special order for tomorrow.

The House nearly disposed of the revenue bill. Graham made an effort to impose heavy privilege taxes on railways, but failed.

"Rails for Sill."

This morning City Clerk Michaux had a call from a gentleman who wanted to buy the old street car rails which have just been taken up. The job of removing them cost something over $150 and the aldermen propose to sell them, which, at even prices of old iron, will bring more than enough for taking them up.

Changes Firms.

Mr. D. H. Collins, who for several years has been with Mr. M. B. Shrier, has accepted a position with the Ward Shoe Company. He began with his new firm yesterday afternoon.

Died While Being Married.

Bowling Green, Ohio, Dispatch.
News has been received here of the marriage of John Harmon Crossman, of Custar, Wood county, to Miss Leona Davis of Binghamton, who, it is believed was dead when the words making her wife of Crossman were said.

The weird termination of the marriage was the last of a number of disasters which appear to have beset the young couple since they became acquainted with each other years ago.

Crossman grew up a public charge, as his father died fifteen years ago, and he, with two other children, were placed in the children's Home at Cleveland. His mother, some years later, died an inmate of the infirmary in this county.

After leaving the children's Home Crossman was taken by a family near Chenango, N. Y., the parents of the young woman whom he afterwards became engaged to.

The wedding of the couple was set for Thanksgiving Day, but sickness prevented it. Christmas Day was then set, and again sickness interfered. Washington's Birthday was finally decided upon by Miss Davis.

The guests were all assembled at the home of the bride, and although it was thought best to postpone the event on account of her illness, she insisted upon being married. During the ceremony she talked to the groom who placed his arms about her. The ceremony was hastily completed, and as the guests rushed up to congratulate the bride, she were horrified to discover she was dead.

Couldn't Rent.

Greensboro Patriot.
The old saying that "a woman can see through a brick wall" was illustrated in Greensboro the other day. A stranger called at a millinery store and offered the lady in charge a handsome sum of money to vacate the building, saying he wished to rent it for an up-to-date restaurant. The lady thought he was rather anxious to engage in the restaurant business and refused to give an answer to his proposition without investigation. Later she learned that the man wished to engage in the saloon business. She still retains her lease on the building.

IMPULSE TO LEAP OVER PARAPETS.

News Orleans Times-Democrat.

"The strange disposition to cast themselves into space which assails so many people when they look down from high places is very hard to account for scientifically," said a well-known neurologist of this city. "It has undoubtedly been the cause of hundreds of cases of self-destruction, yet it certainly cannot be classed as a suicidal impulse, because those who experience it invariably resist with all their strength and hang back with an agony of dread and repulsion. They don't want to kill themselves, but some power stronger than will, stronger even than love of life, draws them irresistibly over the brink."

"People with this singular infirmity," continued the doctor, "should never expose themselves to danger because the impulse acts automatically and may at any moment pass beyond control. On one occasion, when I was considerably younger than I am at present, I undertook to cure a patient who couldn't look from a height, and the experience left an everlasting impression on my mind. He was a big strapping fellow of 35 or so, a cabinetmaker by trade, and the last man apparently, to be bothered by nervous fancies. I had an idea that by making him look persistently into space for a certain length of time each day I could drive away the dread and the impulse. So I took him to the top of a six-story building that had a flat roof and told him to lie down on his stomach so only the upper part of his face projected over the edge, and look at the street. He was very reluctant to try it. 'I'm afraid to, doctor,' he said earnestly. 'If I do my legs will fly up in the air and I'll go over sure.'"

"Oh, nonsense," I said laughing. "How in the world could your legs fly up in the air? How can you possibly fall when your whole body is stretched out flat on the roof?"

"I don't care he insisted, doggedly. 'I know my legs will fly up in the air if I try to look over the edge.'"

"After a great deal of persuasion I finally induced him to lie down as I had directed, telling him to shut his eyes until he became composed. As soon as he opened them and looked into the street a strong shudder ran through his whole body and I knew he must be suffering mortal agony, but I was determined to go through the lesson, and urged him strongly not to draw back. Possibly a minute elapsed and then a shocking thing occurred. Suddenly and without the slightest warning he seized the edge of the parapet with both hands, drew his body violently forward, at the same time flinging up his legs, and would undoubtedly have gone over the edge if I had not thrown myself instantly on his back.

"The movement was purely convulsive and involuntary. He could no more help it than he could help breathing, but it made my blood run cold to think what might have happened. How could I have explained myself had he fallen? I might readily have been suspected of murder. I dragged him back and went down stairs, a pretty badly agitated couple. Since then I have tried no more experiments along that line."

A Remarkable Incident.

Burke County News.

Mr. H. L. Milner tells of a remarkable incident which came under his observation while on the railroad survey in Watauga county a few days ago. Horse fed had run short at the surveyors' camp and Mr. Milner was out on the hunt of feed when he came to a cabin the mountains where the family were in deep grief. On inquiry as to the cause he learned that one of the children of the family had just died. He further learned that the family was very poor, not having the means with which to bury the child decently. Mr. Milner did all he could for their comfort and went to camp, had a coffin made in which to bury the dead child and sent it to the cabin. Imagine Mr. Milner's surprise when the father of the child came to camp the next day rejoicing and announced that his child had come to life as they were starting with it to the grave. The child had been apparently dead for about 24 hours. Mr. Milner saw the child while he was at the cabin and says it certainly had the appearance of a corpse. When he left Watauga the child was reported up and about and full of life.

THE APPEARANCE OF THE TWO JUDGES.

How They Demeaned Themselves Before the Bar of the Senate--The Reading of the Reply.

News and Observer.

Yesterday as the steel-blue hands on the white round face of the Senate clock folded themselves together over the XII mark, the president announced:

"The hour for convening the High Court of Impeachment has arrived. The Sergeant-at-Arms will make his proclamation."

An intense silence fell upon Senate and lobbies and galleries, so that the words of the proclamation seemed entirely unnecessary:

"O yes, O yes, all persons are commanded to keep silence, on pain of imprisonment, while the Senate of North Carolina is sitting for the trial of impeachment of David M. Furches, Chief Justice, and Robert M. Douglas, Associate Justice, of the Supreme Court of North Carolina."

Every Senator was in his seat. The lobbies were packed with men, while women thronged the galleries--all anxiously watching the proceedings of the trial, which is, of course exciting unusual interest in the minds of people everywhere. Among the visitors present were State officers, ex-State officers, prominent attorneys and politicians from various parts of the State.

The gallery assigned to the colored people was also, for the first time this session, occupied by a large number of negroes, attracted there by their interest in the trial.

"Mr. President," continued the voice of the Sergeant-at-Arms, immediately after the proclamation, "the Board of Managers of the House are present."

"Invite them forward," responded the president.

They came in two by two, headed by Chairman Allen, and followed by their attorneys. When they had taken seats arranged for them on the left of the president's desk, Senator London arose and said:

"Mr. President I move that the door-keeper notify the respondents and their attorneys that the Senate is ready to proceed with the trial."

The motion prevailed and the Sergeant-at-Arms announced the respondents and their counsel.

They came forward. Chief Justice Furches and Justice Douglas came first. They were dressed in closely buttoned Prince Alberts. The Chief Justice carried his tall silk hat in his right hand, and his overcoat on his left arm. Judge Douglas' hands hung, unencumbered, by his side. They took seats in the middle aisle, facing the east--in easy, high-backed chairs, brought from the Supreme Court room for them. The Chief Justice leaned back comfortably, crossed his legs and land his overcoat carelessly across his lap. Judge Douglas sat erect with hands folded.

Their attorney sat near them and to their left, on the right side of the president's desk.

President Turner: "The court will come to order."

The Sergeant-at-Arms commanded order in court.

Senator Arrington moved that Senators Webb, Leak and Speight, who were absent when the court was organized be sworn in. The motion prevailed, the Senators came forward and took the oath.

Here Judge Allen, chairman of the Board of Managers said:

"I wish to announce that the managers, on the part of the House have retained, and have with them today, the following counsel: William A. Guthrie, Cyrus B. Watson, James H. Pou, Theo. F. Davidson and Chas. M. Bnsbee."

Governor Jarvis, leading counsel for the defendants, now arose and said:

"Mr. President: The respondents are present, attended by their counsel and are ready to file their answer to the Articles of Impeachment, if it pleases the Senate to now receive them."

Senator Arrington moved that they be received. The motion prevailed and Gov. Jarvis stepped forward and hand-

Made Her Beautiful

Every Lady in the Land Can Now Have a Beautiful Skin.

A TRIAL BOX FREE

Every lady who sends her name and address will receive by mail free a trial package of a celebrated beauty's remedies for beautifying the complexion. It is not a face powder, cream, cosmetic or bleach, contains no oil, grease, paste or chemicals and is absolutely the only successful beauty taker known.

Fannie B. Ralston, 628 Lexington Ave., New York, Ky., sister of the famous Kentucky Beauty Helen Ralston, who also used these beautifiers, says: "When I began using Mme. Ribault's complexion beautifiers I did not think it possible to clear my skin, my face was in a horrible condition, literally covered with red spots, pimples, blackheads, moth patches and freckles. And whenever the weather changed eczema, chaps and salt rheum added to my misery. I suffered a thousand deaths, and when I sent for a trial of Mme. Ribault's beautifiers just as I had done before, time and again with other advertised remedies, I did not expect any results, imagine my surprise when the next day all redness and soreness were gone. At the end of a week my skin began to clear, the freckles and moth patches disappeared and the eczema and salt rheum were completely cured. I improved so wonderfully that my friends did not recognize me, so quickly had the change taken place. My skin is now perfectly lovely, and there is not a blemish or wrinkle anywhere.

I hope all ladies will at least try these marvelous beautifiers."

Do not delay but write immediately. The treatment is harmless, a natural beauty maker and will permanently remove all tan, freckles, moth patches, pimples, blackheads, flesh worms, sunburn, chaps, roughness and any and all skin imperfections no matter what they may be.

Write to-day without fail and the free treatment will be mailed prepaid with full directions and all particulars absolutely free. Address, MME. RIBAUT, 338 Elm Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

THURSDAY, MARCH 7

THE AMERICAN GUARANTEE.

We are not waging war against the inhabitants of the Philippine Islands. A portion of them are making war against the United States. By far the greater portion of the inhabitants recognize American sovereignty and welcome it as a guaranty or order and of security of life, property, liberty, freedom of conscience and the pursuit of happiness. To them full protection will be given. They shall not be abandoned. We will not leave the destiny of the loyal millions in the islands to the disloyal thousands who are in rebellion against the United States.

This paragraph is from the President's inaugural address delivered Monday. There can be no doubt that Mr. McKinley states the case in its large and true sense. There are, without doubt, a great many people in the Philippine Islands who want the liberty that the absence of the United States would afford, but all competent testimony is to the effect that they are neither a majority in number nor in worth. The question at present narrows itself to the simple proposition that the American people through their representatives are better fitted to establish peace and guarantee "order, liberty, security of life and property and the freedom of conscience and the pursuit of happiness," than that faction of one tribe which desires unrestrained freedom to set up such government as it desires, which according to all human experience, could be only a petty oriental despotism. If the United States were heartless enough and selfish or timid enough or sentimental enough—as you will—to withdraw its forces today, the world knows that Anarchy would be crowned king tomorrow and wield his bloody sceptre over a helpless people till Aguinaldo could wade through blood to his little tyrannous throne which would be scarcely a less tolerable substitute for Anarchy's.

We have enough faith in the American people to trust their guarantee.

A bill yesterday passed the House, which established prohibition in Cumberland county. This, we take it, is an underhand method of revenge adopted by the anti-dispensary people to get even for the defeat of their effort to abolish the Fayetteville dispensary. If this is correct, the vote was an unworthy thing for the House to do.

The article in this paper yesterday headed "Shot through the heart," should have been credited as a special to The Charlotte Observer, instead of to The Telegram.

Not Inspired Says the Doctor.

Lexington, Ky., Dispatch 4th. Dr. F. C. Pillsbury, pastor of the Methodist church here, has created a sensation in church circles by arguing that the bible is not inspired. In a sermon last night he said:

"In all these discussions I would not have you feel the bible is to be passed over in any sense. It must ever remain the great source of knowledge which must be put through the crucible of one's own personal conscience. At the same time the Bible must be read in the light of what it is, simply the literature of a peculiarly religious people."

APPEARANCE OF TWO JUDGES

ed the clerk typewritten copy of the answer.

This document contains over 17,000 words, and the reading of it consumed an hour and a half—beginning at 12:10 and ending at 1:40. It was for the most part listened to with close interest by those present, though, it must be confessed, some of the Senators showed unmistakable signs of drowsiness and the galleries and lobbies were considerably thinned out before the end of the document was reached.

Immediately on its conclusion the court adjourned to meet again at noon on Friday, when the Managers and their attorneys may file, if they so desire, a replication to the answer.

A NIGHT IN A MINING CAMP.

Story of a Tragedy in Which Two Men Were Killed and One Injured.

One night, says the author of a curiously interesting article in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly, things came to a climax. Marshal McInness was at Sitka; his substitute, Rowan, was sitting in an all-night lunch room, when a man with blood running down his face staggered in the place. He shouted for some one to give him a "gun," and Rowan, who was a square man, explaining that he was acting marshal, asked him what his trouble was. The wounded man excitedly told his story. He had been robbed of his money, and had been beaten on the head when he had protested to the bartender of the Theater Royal, where the robbery had occurred. Finally he had left, promising, however, to get a gun and square accounts. "Come with me, and I will investigate this matter," said Rowan, and he helped the man along, for he was quite feeble from the loss of blood. When they got to the theater the wounded man opened the door, at the same time making a semblance of drawing a pistol from his "gun-pocket." Fay, the bartender, had been expecting him. Quick as a flash he pulled his gun and fired, dropping the poor fellow dead in his tracks. Rowan, his revolver in his fist, pushed his way into the room, only to be shot down by the desperate bartender, who afterwards disappeared. A man who was employed by the citizens to act as fireman happened to be passing at the time. He was intoxicated, and in his excitement emptied his revolver at random. One of the bullets struck the proprietor of the Nugget saloon, who was eating at a lunch counter on the sidewalk, and crippled him. Marshal Rowan staggered to his feet, managed to crawl to Dr. Moore's office around the corner, and then dropped dead. Oddly enough, the doctor had recently returned from Rowan's home, where the first baby had just been born in Skaguay.

A new remedy for biliousness is now on sale at C. E. Holton's drug store. It is called Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. It gives quick relief and will prevent the attack if given as soon as the first indication of the disease appears. Price, 25 cents per box. Samples free.

For the weakness and prostration following grippe there is nothing so prompt and effective as One Minute Cough Cure. This preparation is highly endorsed as an unfailing remedy for all throat and lung troubles and its early use prevents consumption. It was made to cure quickly.

THAT THROBBING HEADACHE.

Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headaches. They make pure blood and strong nerves and build up your health. Easy to take. Try them. Only 25 cents. Money back if not cured. Sold at C. E. Holton's drug store.

Counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are liable to cause blood poisoning. Leave them alone. The original has the name of DeWitt's upon the box and wrapper. It is harmless and healing salve for skin diseases. Unequaled for piles. Howard Gardner.

The claim of other cough medicines to be as good as Chamberlain's are effectually set at rest in the following testimonial of Mr. C. D. Glass, an employee of Bartlett & Dennis Co., Gardiner, Me. He says: "I had kept adding to a cold and cough in the winter of 1897, trying every cough medicine I heard of without permanent help, until one day I was in the store of Mr. Houlehan and he advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and offered to pay back my money if I was not cured. My lungs and bronchial tubes were very sore at this time, but I was completely cured by this remedy, and have since always turned to it when I got a cold, and soon find relief. I also recommend it to my friends and am glad to say it is the best of all cough medicines." For sale by C. E. Holton.

NO RIGHT TO UGLINESS

The woman who is lovely in face form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at C. E. Holton's drug store.

RHEUMATISM | CATARRH — DIS EASES CURED BY B. B. B.

It is the deep-seated, obstinate cases of catarrh and rheumatism that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures. It matters not what other treatments doctors, sprays, liniments, medicated air, blood purifiers, have failed to do, B. B. B. always promptly reaches the real cause and roots out and drives from the bones, joints, mucous membrane, and entire system the specific poison in the blood that causes rheumatism and catarrh. B. B. B. is the only remedy strong enough to do this and cure and so there can never be a return to the symptoms. Don't give up hope, but try B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) or 3 Bs. For sale by druggists and Howard Gardner, in Greensboro, at $1 per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. To prove our faith in B. B. B. we will send a trial bottle free to sufferers, so they may test the remedy at our expense. Address Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Headache often results from a disordered condition of the stomach and constipation of the bowels. A dose or two of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will correct these disorders and cure the headache. Sold by C. E. Holton.

AN ANCIENT BELIEF.

The ancients believed that rheumatism was the work of a demon within a man. Any one who has had an attack of static or inflammatory rheumatism will agree that the affliction is demoniac enough to warrant the belief. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out demons, but it will cure rheumatism, and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and this quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

SEEK FARMERS FROM JAPAN.

The Government of the Argentine Republic is arranging for 20,000 immigrants.

A novel experiment in colonizing is about to be made in the Argentine Republic. It has been found that the French, German and English immigrants for the most part have selected the cities and large centers of population for their residence. In these places they have got control of many industries and take a leading share in the commerce of the country. The Italians have been engaged heavily in river navigation, while the stream of Irish which used to supply the demands for agricultural labor, filled up the shipyards and supplied the labor of docks, flows no more. Some French, Swiss and German peasants have founded agricultural colonies, and in certain places the Russians and Poles form the bulk of the rural population.

But the Argentine government has decided that none of these nations supplies in sufficient numbers a rural population for the development of the country, and have decided to import Japanese farmers. A great concession has been given in the province of Formosa for the first colony, and arrangements have been made to bring over 20,000 Japanese farmers and settle them there.

HAZING FIFTY YEARS AGO.

At the present time, when so much of public attention is being directed to hazing at college and in government academies, the following extract from a letter written over half a century ago will be of interest. The writer was at that time a freshman of Yale, but was not at the college when inditing the epistle. He says:

"I had a letter from — the other day—they are having great times at Yale plaguing the freshmen, etc. That business is carried on to a great extent here. Many of the poor devils have been ducked under the windows a dozen times, etc., etc. The greatest sport is to break into their rooms at midnight (a whole party of sophs at a time), make the scared fellow get up, mount the table in his shirt sleeves, answer questions in geography, arithmetic, Latin grammar, etc. (the simplest possible, so as to be suited to a freshman's comprehension), read a little Greek and then what is the greatest trial, declaim. If he refuses to comply he receives a shower from his water pail until he submits. If he answers well he is highly complimented and flattered and politely bid good night."

A GOOD COUGH MEDICINE FOR CHILDREN

"I have no hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says F. P. Moran, a well known and popular baker, of Petersburg, Va. "We have given it to our children when troubled with bad coughs, also whooping cough, and it has always given perfect satisfaction. It was recommended to me by a druggist as the best cough medicine for children as it contained no opium or other harmful drug." Sold by C. E. Holton.

The lingering cough following grippes calls for One Minute Cough Cure. For all throat and lung troubles this is the only harmless remedy that gives immediate results. Prevents consumption. Howard Gardner.

A KNOT IN THE SKEIN

By Mrs. Chas. C. Marble.

THEY made a pretty picture, did grandmother and little Dot. Grandmother sat in her low rocking-chair, with her glasses pushed back above her forehead, and before her stood Dot holding outstretched a brilliant skein of wool upon her chubby little hands.

"Hurry up, grandma," said Dot, with a slight frown, "you're so slow."

Grandma took no heed, apparently, but went on with the utmost precision. Slowly the yarn reeled over the chubby thumbs, slowly went on the winding about grandma's ball.

Dot stood first upon one foot, then the other, like a barn-yard fowl, and gave at intervals a tremendous sigh as evidence of her weariness.

"You're 'asperatin'," she at last broke out; "really and truly, grandma, you're old 'asperatin' herself."

"What?" cried the startled old lady, who had been intent upon her winding or perhaps lost in a reverie of other days; "what is that you are saying, Dot?"

"I said you was a 'asperatin' old poke," replied Dot, firmly. "I is most tired to death, and there you go on windin' jes' as if you was asleep."

"Well, I never," gasped the old lady. I pretended to be intent upon the work before me, yet could scarce refrain from laughing aloud.

"Tired, eh?" queried grandma, with a twinkle in her eye; "well, we will soon be through, and you can lie down and rest."

"No, I'm going out to jump rope," incautiously said Dot, "with Willie and Rose. They're jumping now, don't you hear 'em, grandma?"

"Ah, you are going to rest your weary limbs by jumping rope," replied grandma. "Well, so that you won't be entirely used up, suppose you sit on this chair," nuzzling one beside Dot.

Dot sulkily complied, but as she did so dropped her hands in feigned weariness.

"See," cried grandma, "you are letting strands of the wool slip over your fingers. Hold up your hands, dear, and we will soon be through," and on went the old lady, placidly and slowly winding as before.

Dot for a space looked the picture of youthful resignation, but soon her impatience returned.

"Hurry up," she cried, vehemently. "You're enough to 'asperate the patience of Job," and again I saw her slyly drop a loop or two from her fingers, as she moved restlessly upon the chair.

Grandma looked at her reprovingly, but hastened somewhat her movements. There was a pause presently in the winding. The old lady brought her spectacles down from her forehead, and peered at the skein of wool.

"There's a snarl," she said, "dear, dear, how did that come?"

"It's an awful hard knot," cheerfully said Miss Dot, after grandma had made several attempts to disentangle the snarl. "I dese you had better get it all right, grandma, and we'll wind the ball 'nother time."

"Oh, no, Dot, we'll get it all right now," replied grandma, with a jerk.

Snap went the strand. Several minutes were consumed in straightening the skein, and grandma carefully knotted the broken threads together before resuming her winding.

The sounds of laughter and jumping outside the window came borne in upon the stillness of the room. Another petulant movement from Dot.

"I is so nervous, I can't hold still," she next exclaimed, impatiently tugging at the wool.

"Dear, dear, another knot," cried grandma, peering over her spectacles at Dot. "Why, at this rate, we will never get through."

But at last it was done, and away scampered Dot, every vestige of ill-humor banished from her pretty face. Grandma's glance met mine.

"The wool is for her own stockings," quietly said she, as if in answer to something she read in my eyes, "and I intend these knots shall teach her a lesson which mere words would fail to accomplish. Youthful experience, if rightly impressed, may serve to guard the future from sterner ones."

The old lady's favorite expression, "I know," played about her firmly closed lips, but she gave no utterance to them as with ball in hand she sat gazing upon the pictures of the past—pictures whose lights and shadows were reflected in her own dim eyes, in the fitting smile upon brow or lip, went into that hole as if it was an evening party, sir.

"Well, I went back to the office. I couldn't be hanging round watching the men, or the boss would have been making trouble; but my new hand stayed on my mind, somehow, and I strolled round by the wreck two or three times in the afternoon, making some errand, you understand, in that direction."

"That man was working, sir, like a—like a house afire. The Italians are good workers, none better, as a rule—but his pick went in and out three times for their twice, and there was no chattering in his corner of the hole. He had little breath to talk, if he had wanted to, for though he was a muscular fellow, you could see with half an eye that he had never done such work in his life before.

"The sweat poured down his face like rain, but he never stopped, never looked up, or knew that I or anyone else was near—just plodded away, swinging that pick as if there were nothing else in the world."

"That's pluck!" said I to myself. "If he doesn't die he'll do!"

"For all that, I thought he would give out after the first day—didn't think his strength would last. When he came in for his pay at night, he was shaky and pretty tired-looking; but he said never a word; just took his pay with the rest, and thanked me, and went off."

"The next morning I was very busy, and although I thought of my gentleman once or twice, I didn't manage to get down to the wreck till noon, soon after the whistle had blown for knocking off work."

"When I got there I saw the Italians lying round on the ground or squatting on the fences, eating their black bread and sausage, and chattering away as usual; but no sight of my gentleman in the flannel shirt."

"Oh!" said I to myself. "One day was enough for him, was it?" And I thought it would have been enough for me, too. When you are not used to the swing of a pick, the way it takes you in the back is something beyond belief. I turned to come away, and lo! there he was, sitting off in a corner by himself, all crouched up, with a great hunch of bread in one hand and a book in the other."

"I strolled up behind him and looked over his shoulder at the book. It was an Italian grammar, sir!"

"My shadow falling on the book startled him, and he looked up. I suppose I must have looked as astonished as I felt, for he smiled and said: 'I couldn't afford to lose such an opportunity! The boss is very friendly, and I have learned several phrases. Buon giorno, signore!'"

"Are you a schoolmaster," I asked, "and working down in that hole?"

"No," he said, quietly. "I am a bookkeeper. It is a great advantage for a bookkeeper to be able to read and answer foreign letters, and although I have some knowledge of French, I have never come in my way to hear Italian spoken. So now is my chance. I got this grammar for 15 cents," he added, turning it over, with a smile—the book was pretty ragged and one cover was gone—"and I am getting on pretty well."

"Why in the name of everything foolish didn't you apply for a position as bookkeeper," I asked, "instead of this kind of thing?"

"Nobody will take a bookkeeper without references. I shouldn't think much of a firm that did, I suppose," he said, flushing. "My references were in my wallet that was stolen, and it will be a week and more before I get new ones, as my native town is off the main lines and letters take a good while to get there. I've always been fond of open air and exercise," he added, with a quizzical look at the hole where he had been digging, "and now I am getting lots of it."

"Back stiff?" I suggested.

"So, so! I'll manage, though—often been worse after a day's rowing—and this is just as good bread as any other," and he took a bite out of his hunch and looked at his book, as much as to say he had talked enough and wanted to be back at his grammar.

"I walked off and didn't see him again till he came for his pay in the evening, shaky again, but smiling as if he had had an excursion down the harbor. So it went on till the fourth day. Every day I looked to see him give out; but his pluck kept him up, and it's my belief he would have worked in that hole and got stronger and stronger—if something hadn't turned up."

"The fourth day I was sitting in the office, when the door opened and in came Green, from the boiler works over the way. 'Morning,' he said. 'Do you know of a bookkeeper? Our poor fellow, who's been sick for so long, died yesterday. I have to think about getting another.'

"I shook my head, but an idea came to me."

"Will you take a man on trial?"

"What kind of a man?" asked Green.

"Well, I hardly know," said I. "I think he's a pretty good kind, but I've only known him four days. I can answer for his power of work," and I told the man's story.

"Green went out with me, saw the young man, liked his looks and engaged him on the spot. He finished his day's work, came out of his hole in the mud, shook hands with me and the next day found a home for the rest of his life."

"That is seven or eight years ago, and he has been at the boiler works ever since. If he's not to be made a partner soon I've been misinformed to-day—and that is what put him into my head when you were talking about pluck just now. That man, sir, had the real article; and when a man has the real article, and is honest to boot, don't talk to me about his not succeeding in life. Going? Well, good morning! Good luck to you in your new venture, and let your watchword be—'Pluck!'"

TO NATIONALIZE TELEGRAPH.

Gigantic Scheme Proposed by Sir Sanford Fleming for the British Government.

Sir Sanford Fleming has addressed a long letter to William Mulock, postmaster general of Canada, in favor of a telegraph service to girdle the globe and owned by the state. The letter is said to be the beginning of a movement to nationalize the cable and telegraph service of the empire. The matter, the writer says, affects Canada as well as Australia.

The arrangement for the establishment of the Pacific cable has been completed. The arrangement implies joint ownership, and in the opinion of Sir Sanford it is the harbinger of a complete system of state owned telegraphs by land and sea.

With the telegraph system nationalized as suggested, Sir Sanford says that messages will be transmitted to and from the most distant British possessions at one-eighth or one-tenth the rates now levied by the companies. In concluding his letter the writer says: "British subjects in Canada, in Australia, in New Zealand, in India, in Africa as well as in the mother country must unite in securing complete emancipation from the grasp of the great 'cable combine.' At the threshold of the twentieth century high imperial interests demand the cheapest possible telegraph transmission and the greatest possible freedom of intercourse between all the subjects of her majesty domiciled around the globe. I respectfully submit, therefore, that action cannot be taken a day too soon to nationalize our telegraph system by land and sea throughout the whole empire."

LASSOS MOUNTAIN LIONS.

Old Cattleman Near Santa Barbara, Cal., Kills Wild Animals with Riata.

There are few men who have had courage or skill to lasso a mountain lion on a mountain and make him captive. But there is an old cattle rider in Santa Barbara county, Cal., who the other day roped two lions, and without the use of gun or club killed both. He is Bico Bejarra, a vaquero of San Marco's ranch, near Santa Barbara. Not only did he lasso these lions, but he caught them out of two big sycamores, where, 35 feet from the ground, they crouched, treed by shepherd dogs.

The dogs got the lions up and a party went to shoot them. C. G. Lamb, a cattleman, would have killed them, but Bejarra stopped him, saying he would furnish sport for the company.

Riding his trained pony close to the tree, Bejarra lassoed one of the lions. The animal was roped around the body and as the riata tightened the beast was drawn, snarling, hissing and clawing, to the ground. Keeping out of its way, Bico worried it to death. It struggled and fought, but was soon brought where it was ready to have its throat cut. Meantime the second lion had been closely watched. It was next roped and the performance repeated.

MAIDENS ANXIOUS TO WED.

Joker's Act Causes a Massachusetts Man to Be Deluged with Offers.

An advertisement for a wife in a Chicago matrimonial paper may drive Christopher Harrison, city engineer of Everett, Mass., to marriage. The advertisement was inserted by some of his acquaintances as a joke, but he has been so deluged with amorous letters on pink, blue, green and purple paper that he is now seriously considering matrimony. He has received letters from Siwash Indian maidens on bleak Alaskan shores, Oklahoma belles, Maine teachers, Nova Scotia farmers' daughters, Honolulu girls and southern and western belles.

"If I only wanted to go on a matrimonial spree," he said, "Brigham Young would not be in it with me and even King Solomon could not trot in my class. I have a female picture gallery that could not be purchased with 10,000,000 cigarettes, and if I catch the man who advertised for a wife in my name there will certainly be trouble."

Harrison is considered a good match by Everett girls and several are angling for him. He knows it.

A Baltimore dentist had in his employ a colored boy, whom he called Chocolate. While the dentist was alone in his office one day the boy entered and said: "Doctor, was you visiting at Mount Vernon place last night?" The doctor was surprised at the question, but answered that he was, and supplemented the answer by asking how Chocolate knew he was there and why he had asked the question. Chocolate grinned and replied: "I knowed you was there because I was visiting a lady at the same house."
